- Aberdeen Journal, Wednesday, 4th March 1908.
- "Sudden Death in Huntly. -- Mr. George Bremner, Upperkirkgate, died very suddenly on Monday night. He took supper as usual, being apparently in his ordinary health, and died two hours later. Mr. Bremner was well known over a wide district. His mother, who died many years ago, for a long time conducted a successful licensed grocery business in Gordon Street. For a considerable time, Mr. Bremner was in the Post Office service in Glasgow, and later he acted as a colporteur in the Strathbogie district. By his death the temperance cause loses a loyal worker. He was associated with the Good Templar Order, and took a keen interest in the juvenile lodge. Deceased, who was in his 59th year, was never married. His elder brother, Rev, John Bremner, is parish minister of Kirkmichael, Dumfriesshire."

Aberdeen Journal, Tuesday 12th August 1924:

" A fine of GBP 7, which was paid in court, was imposed on Adam BREMNER, ironworker, Causewayend, Aberdeen, who pleaded guilty to a similar offence [street betting] committed in Hutcheon Street, on the 2nd inst. Accused, who was represented by Mr. J.T. SIMPSON, advocate, admitted a previous conviction for street betting."

"Mr. SIMPSON said the accused, an ironworker to trade, joined the army in 1909, and was taken prisoner in the early days of the war. When released, he was discharged from the army on account of heart trouble. He could get no work in the shipyards. "

" Mr. SINCLAIR said that the accused had been seen for the past three months carrying on the street betting business. "

" The betting slips and other papers were ordered to be forfeited."
