Aberdeen Journal, Monday 31 October 1938

"Baby Girl's Death in Fire.

"Man Dons Gas Mask in Rescue bid.

:Two men, one of whom put on his gas mask, made gallant rescue efforts when a baby girl lost her life, and her infant brother was badly scorched, in a fire which broke out last night in their parents' home in Barlogan Avenue, Glasgow,

:The baby girl, Rachael (sic) Bremner was one year and ten months old, and her infant brother Ronald, is ten months.

"The family lived in a modern tenement. Police are investigating the cause of the fire.

"Mr. Bremner, the mother, had left the house for a few minutes only when neighbours sensing smoke dashed upstairs to investigate. They discovered, according to their statements, the door of the Bremner home open, the lobby and kitchen blazing, and could hear the crying of children.

"Then two men who made heroic rescue efforts were William Like and James Ross. When Mrs. Brewster (sic) returned she collapsed."
